

Dear Federal Communication Commission,
I live in an area where regular AM and some FM station reception are very dependant on my automobiles location. I appreciate the much more dependable signal with XM Satellite radio and am happy to pay to receive the many channels of commercial and static free music. We should also be able to receive weather and traffic information on a more continuous basis than what is currently provided on standard AM and FM.

Thank you,

William K. Wagner